Dear our valued customers:

Re: Additional berths 176-179 calling in Los Angeles

We are pleased to inform you of launching of our additional berths 176-179 calling in Los Angeles. Our regular berth 199 still has a weight restriction and it has been making us incapable of handling such heavy cargoes with its over 22 tons since last October.

In order to break through the current situation, our vessels will call at Pasha terminal, berths 176-179 (see attached map) once a month in addition to berth 199 from end of this September. We will handle heavy cargoes at either WWL (berth 199) or Pasha terminal (berths 176-179) depending on its cargo weight. Berths 176-179 calling is scheduled subject to minimum volume by all our customers. Please refer to vessel schedule at Pasha terminal (berths 176-179) with its address as follows.

More than 22 tons --- Pasha terminal (berths 176-179)
Less than 22 tons --- WWL terminal (berth 199)

(Vessel)	(ETD)	(Status)
Hoegh Inchon V-10	Sep.28	Calling at Pasha terminal (berths 176-179) is already fixed.
Luna Spirit V-25	Oct.19	Calling at Pasha terminal (berths 176-179) still require minimum volume.

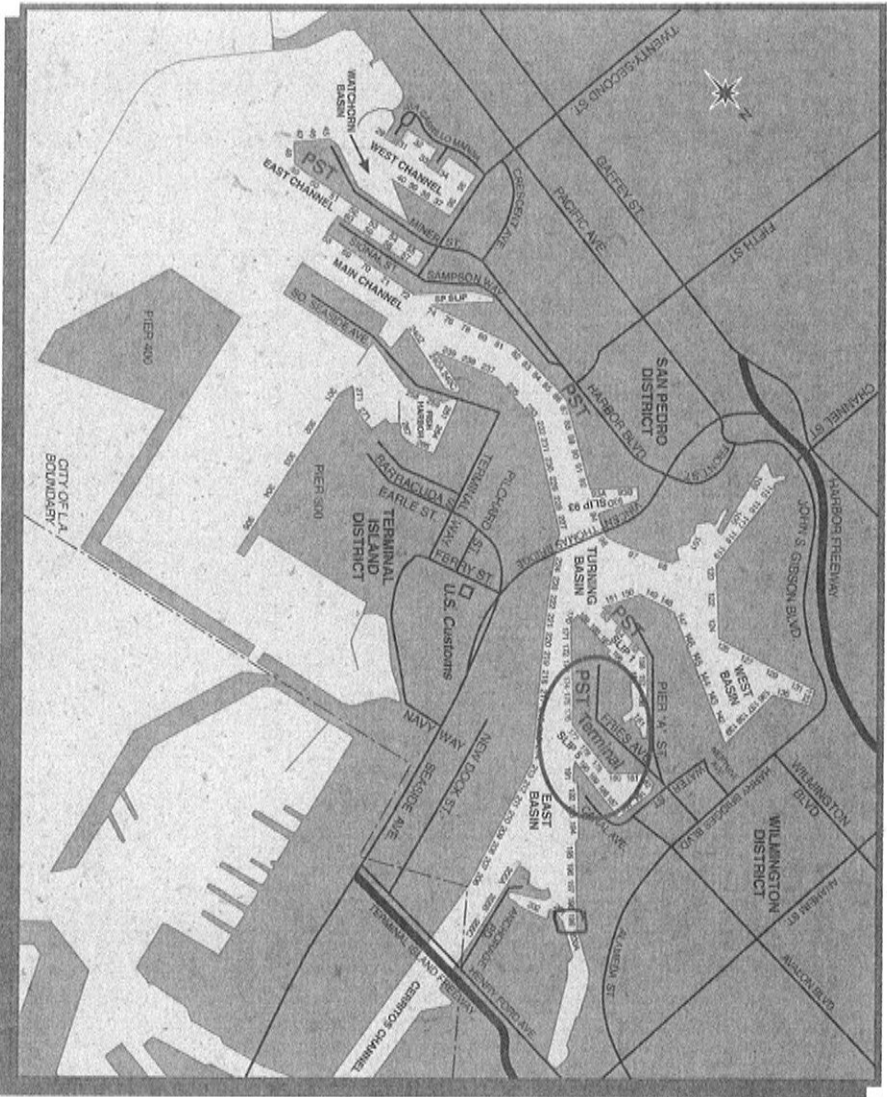

Berths 176-179(Pasha terminal)
